

“I have been associated with the Institutes for Nonprofit Excellence for over 18 years as a faculty member and later on as a funder. I can attest to the fact that the organizations that have gone through the Institutes have significantly benefited from the experience. They emerge from the Institutes with a greater motivation for Board improvement, have a greater understanding of the theory and mechanics of annual giving and grantsmanship, and, of course, of the importance of strategic planning.

There is no other nonprofit training with such a long-standing record of national exposure that can match the record of accomplishment and effectiveness as the Institute for Nonprofit Excellence”.
